Buyers' Tip: When you finish cleaning out your unit, take a photo of the unit with the door open and the unit number showing. Show the photo of the clean unit to the manager when you go to the manager to get your deposit back. This may save the manager time and they will not have to leave their office to verify the unit was cleaned. It will also give you proof the unit was cleaned out correctly in case something comes up, such as someone dumping items into your cleaned and unlocked unit.
